

- Survey routes - Follow greenway maps and submit route-reviews

You like maps and have an eye for safety. You can clearly outline the problems and rate your experience on the route you explored.

You think a greenway is only as useful as its connections and that local destinations, particularly parks, schools, and businesses need to be highlighted. You feel comfortable consulting with neighbors to find the undocumented key local destinations on a route.

You can view proposed routes with a critical eye: Does the route feel safe? Are there gaps in the route? Would this route be safe for children?

You can choose to explore on a bike, rollerblades or walking shoes so you know what greenway users will feel like on them.

- Web site/Listserv design – Help us improve our web presence

Your skills are needed to create and maintain a method for keeping postings and calendars up to date, fast, and functional.

You know that communication is key and that if a website isn't fresh and up to date, it loses value.

You know that Kirkland Greenways followers need to be up to date on events, City of Kirkland Transportation news, and action alerts, to name a few.

- Business liaison – Partner with local businesses to build support for greenways

You understand the challenges of small business and can approach local business owners about how they can get involved – and why should they want to.

You understand that Greenways mean more people on our neighborhood streets, walking and biking to local businesses more often.

You think that keeping our spending local is key to a vibrant, walkable Kirkland. You feel that Greenways mean that people won't automatically be getting into their cars to drive to big-box stores to spend their money and that this is a very good thing.

- Advocate for our campaigns (schools, health, equity for all transportation modes)

You are passionate about safety around schools and have fond memories of getting to school on your own when you were young. You think today's youth are missing out and that it's time for change.

You think that the streets and sidewalks around hospitals should be safe places where patients and visitors can get to appointments, get some exercise and fresh air, and travel independently without experiencing traffic fears. You know that for some people, public transit is their only way to get to their doctor and you think their trip should be a safe one.

You believe that people of all ages and abilities need to be able to ride, walk and play comfortably and safely in their own neighborhoods. You believe walking or riding a bike are valuable regular exercise and that these forms of active transportation make for healthier neighbors and a more active, healthy and vibrant city.

- Help to plan and advertise events, celebrations, and rides

You love organizing events, and have a knack for knowing what's needed.

You know how to capture your audience and get people showing up.

You like the idea of celebrating with your community.

- Grant-writing – Find and apply for grants for events, pop-up greenways, etc.

You've written grant-applications and won them. You know how to get funding for local improvements that matter.

You feel excited about working with resources at local non-profits, researching grants at the library, and seeking out unique grant opportunities.

You know that without funding a plan is just a dream, and that innovation stalls, no matter how good the idea is. You know you can get the funding and provide the vital spark that will get Greenways built now.

- Lead a walk or ride

You like the idea of leading people on walks or bicycle rides around Kirkland neighborhoods.

You think that getting people out on the greenways routes is a great way to help get people engaged and make them aware of the issues in our neighborhoods.

- Do people-counting or on the spot surveys.

You like the idea of talking to people to find out how often they walk or ride a bike to local businesses.

You can set up a people-counting station at local area businesses or street corners that lack safe pedestrian crossings.

You believe that showing your survey numbers to the Kirkland City Council will affect the change we need so people can cross safely to where they want to go.

- Participate in Greenways walks or rides

You can't wait to join a group ride or walk and see what the issues are for yourself.

You are eager to choose a bike, rollerblades or walking shoes and connect with us on walks and rides around Kirkland as we explore Greenway routes and raise awareness of the issues.

- Attend meetings and speak up

You want to be present at Transportation Commission meetings and City Council meetings so you know what's happening in your city.

You care about having transportation choices and you want your voice to be heard.
